Readership

Articles published in Operations and Supply Chain: An International Journal are read by academics, researchers, students, consultants, and practitioners in the fields of operations management and supply chain management

Review Process

Each paper submitted to OSCM is subject to a blind review process. The Editor-in-Chief or the Associate Editors will first review the suitability of the manuscript and if deemed appropriate, it will be sent to reviewers for evaluation and comments. Based on the recommendation of the reviewers, the Editor-in-Chief will decide whether the paper is to be accepted as it is, subject to revisions, or rejected.

Submission of Manuscripts

All manuscript should be submitted to the journal editor electronically in an MS word file to the Editor-in-Chief at: oscm.editor@gmail.com.

Guidelines for Preparing and Submitting Manuscripts

A manuscript should be submitted electronically, in a word or pdf file, to the Editor-in-Chief or the Associate Editors. Once received, it will be reviewed for suitability. If further review is deemed appropriate, the manuscript will be sent to 2 or more reviewers. When preparing your manuscript, please follow the guidelines below:

1. The paper submitted for consideration for publication in the OSCM (the Journal) is not copyrighted, accepted, or under review in other journals.
2. It is the responsibility of the authors to obtain appropriate permission from copyright owners or authorities of any copyrighted materials from outside parties that are used in the paper.
3. The first page of the paper should include a title, the names, affiliations, addresses, and e-mails of the authors, an abstract summarizing the content of the paper of no more than 250 words, and 3 – 6 keywords. The abstract should not contain formulas and references.
4. The manuscript should be typed in MS Word, using 12 point-Times New Roman-font. The paper should have 1.5 spacing throughout.
5. The length of the manuscript should be less than 6000 words or 25 pages
6. All figures and tables should have clear captions and inserted directly in the body of the paper (not listed in the back of the paper).
7. Use Harvard style referencing system. That is, use last name(s) of the author(s) and year of publication in the text. Use et al after the last name of the first author for three authors or more. In the end of the article, list the references in the alphabetical order of the last name of the first authors.
 - a. For books: Last name, initials (year), title (italic), publisher, place of publication. For example: Chopra, S. and Meindl, P. (2001), Supply Chain Management: Strategy, Planning, and Operations, Prentice- Hall, New Jersey.
 - b. For journals: Last name, initials (year), article title. Journal Name (italic), volume, number, page numbers. For example: Wang, X., and Liu, L. (2007). Coordination in a retailer-led supply chain through option contract. International Journal of Production Economics 110 (1-2), pp. 115 – 127.
 - c. For Conference Proceedings: Last name, initials (year), article title. Conference Name (Italic), Conference Location, page numbers.
 - d. For sources from the Internet: Add the URL address and date of access after any possible information such as authors' name, title of the article, etc.
8. The use of footnotes and end-notes should be avoided.
9. Acknowledgement, if any, should be placed before the list of references.
